Table 2.1: A Random Day

没想到这首要不要放在这章,可能给这章重新写一篇。In the most lenient way, It was wrapped in nowhere, all of a sudden the speed was entirely different, The appetite of each day retroactively consumes one another, I was wrapped and consumed by the stale ambition the perished alertness that is now raw egg yolk I am shedding emails, stacked single use plastic cups devouring the next one this is at the tail this is either a place or a time and there cannot be higher level of abstraction other than time I can't think of any concrete objects to conjure up in my mind , I am wrapped and devoured, consumed, drenched in honey consistency of loose ends madness there is no concrete allegory outside of where I am now that I care, I am wrapped in "this" and this is the last one the most susceptible one of the stack of plastic cups. i refuse to talk about consequences this is not consequence this is the whiplash the jet lag the wrong Lorentz transformation from other moods in other frames of references, senses are not made only wild splashes of static electric sparks excruciating raw texture that is biting into the surface of my thumb, the static electricity shocks are loud dizzying the full fury expanding in heavy syrup blowing up a thin bubble instead of white air it is not let out it is not able to only the bubble. The gooey mixture is shaking blending mixing buzzing throwing itself against the walls banging itself on the table. All was supposed to be confined in another room another space restricted not let loose not to say seeping crawling dampening all after a certain transformation repackaged extracted condensed residualized redelivered to the room next door let the next room inherit what is left of it. What it was seems stupid. “This” now wants completely to be orthogonal to the deliveries. It has been nowhere differentiable. No influence can be carried on without being distorted wretched. “This” is angry to all its predecessors to its position on this conveyor belt its inevitable fate in this domino sequence to its existence as a tree cut down to its immediate future of being smashed down cut up gifted misinterpreted wasted carried on. its reputation carries the weight of constituting a unimaginably heavy part of faith. “This” stupidly remembers and inherits only the coordinates of all the past frame of reference which means nothing to this self. The neighbours do not help it is not additionally hopeful to have neighbours at all yet the hallway continues. I wonder if the most loyal to truth way of transmitting is delivering packaged vomit. There is no invention no observation no stillness and no movement
